Funsten Estate

Letters of administration have been granted in the estate of James B. Funsten, late of Wynnewood, to his widow, Frances B. Funsten. The value of the estate is $200. Funsten, who was special deputy in charge of the affairs of the Merion Title and Counties Title, died suddenly at his desk in the latter institution.

L. M. Team Winds Up Season Undeclared

Smashing Victory Scored Over Ridley Park in Final Game

ADAM'S RECORD FINE

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Coach Albert Adam took a more satisfying puff at his ancient pipe last Saturday night, for his eighth season of football at Lower Merion High School came to a close at 4.10 o'clock that afternoon. The huge crowd that braved the cold to see the team in its final engagement, cheered a super-back and a marvelous line, but the facts on paper over a period of eight years put Mr. Adam square on the back with a cheerful and resounding "O. K."

Adams' teams at Lower Merion have won 57 victories against 9 defeats, and you may include 5 tie games, two with Haverford and three with Radnor. This is a wonderful record, especially since the L. M. game is the highlight of every opponent's season, thus placing a heavier burden on the Maroon team and coaching staff.

The soldier's team on last Saturday played a good team from Ridley Park off its feet, and finished a remarkable season in a glorious manner. Harvey Buek got the credit for totting the touchdowns across, and he deserves all the praise he gets, but Adam's line was the proof of the fine coaching that the Maroon teams receive. The students of the game, who sat in the stands by the hundreds, marveled at

Women Sponsor Open Bridge Tourney Today

Winners in the open duplicate contract bridge tournament at the Narberth Bridge Club on Monday night were: N. and S., E. C. Griswold and Caryl E. Starr; E. and W., C. A. Hammer and Paul R. Seidler.

The Women's Division of the club will hold an open duplicate tournament this Friday afternoon in the club rooms for the members and their guests. Coffee and sandwiches will be served at one o'clock and the playing will begin at 2.

Legion Plans Xmas Party

A right Merry Xmas for little folks is being planned by the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion. For several years the underprivileged children of Narberth have been finding Santa Claus and a Xmas tree Legion Party. These parties have been a huge success, due largely to the co-operation of fellow-townsmen and other organizations. The Legion is looking for the same generous spirit this year. Anyone wishing to help these children to a happy time can get in touch with William H. Durbin, Joseph Burta or Arthur L. Cooke.

Boys' Club Winning Streak is Broken

Ardmore Ramblers Defeat Boro Eleven Thanksgiving by 13-0 Score

WIN AGAIN SATURDAY

The Narberth Boys' Club six game winning streak was brought to an end on Thanksgiving morning when the Ardmore Ramblers invaded the Borough and triumphed by the score of 13-0.

The Narberth eleven came back on Saturday, however, to defeat the strong Berry Memorial team by a 14-6 score.

This Saturday Narberth will play Overbrook at the Borough Playground.

In the Thanksgiving game the Ardmore team scored shortly after the opening of play, when Edwards blocked Harris' punt and Carrey recovered the ball over the goal. Horton added the extra point by a placement kick.

The visitors' second score came after Harris had kicked from his own thirty-yard line to Horton on the Ardmore eleven's 30-yard line. After outrunning several would-be tacklers the visitors' quarterback, behind perfect interference, ran 70 yards to the goal line. Horton failed on the try for point after the touchdown.

During the remainder of the game, the Narberth club was in striking distance several times, but lacked the final punch. In the third quarter, "Mike" McGarry thrilled the crowd by running back a punt 70 yards to the Ardmore five-yard line. But

Garden Club Represented

The members of the Penn Valley Garden Club attended the closing meeting of the Flowers for the Flowerless Committee at the Graphic Sketch Club, 729 Catharine street, Philadelphia, Wednesday evening. Mrs. George Holt Strawbridge is chairman of the committee.

The next meeting of the Penn Valley Garden Club will be held at the residence of Mrs. Frank Smith, 422 Gulph road, Penn Valley, on Wednesday morning.

Following the Red Cross sewing, Edw. McDermon, of the Bartlett Tree Company, will give a talk on the care of trees.

On All-American Team

Miss Anne Townsend, of Merion, was named center halfback on the 1932 All-America field hockey team at Greenwich, Conn., last Saturday, at the conclusion of the national tournament. Miss Townsend, who has captained nine All-America teams, has also been president of the U. S. Field Hockey Association for the past five years.

Miss Kitty McLean, of Narberth, was named right fullback on the All-America reserves.

Yeats Coming to Bryn Mawr

William Butler Yeats, Irish poet, playwright and novelist, will speak at Goodhart Hall, Bryn Mawr College, on Wednesday evening at 8.20. He will talk on "The Irish Renaissance."

Xmas Decorations to Grace Business Section; Prizes Offered to Residents for Home Displays

Narberth will this Christmas be more cheerfully decorated and illuminated than in many years past, according to plans made by the Narberth Business Council. In addition to the Borough's traditional display of trees and greens, and lights in windows, there are two new features.

Commencing Friday, December 16, the Haverford avenue-Narberth avenue business section will be decorated with lights, trees and laurel until Monday, January 2. The Yuletide decorations are a friendly gesture on the part of the business folk, at their own expense. The custom was commenced last year, and aroused so much favorable comment from residents of the Borough and visitors from surrounding communities, that it was decided to repeat the stunt this Christmas.

And finally, an inducement is being offered to make more homes than ever signal pleasure at Christmas-tide, with gaily colored lighting effects and festive designs. The purpose is to make Narberth the most attractive community on the Main Line this Christmas, and at the same time enhance, with decorative and original effects, the appearance of homes for all residents.

Fifty dollars in prizes are offered by the Narberth Business Council, as follows: First prize, $25; second, $15; third, $10.

Further information about the contest will be published later. The invitation is open to all residents of Narberth, Wynnewood, Merion and Penn Valley. Prizes will be awarded these citizens whose homes are declared to be most attractively illuminated. The effects need not be lavish—the prizes may go to small but highly original displays, according to one of the judges. Awards will be made by the Executive Board of the Narberth Business Council, who will view the homes Monday-Wednesday, December 19-21. Winners will be announced in "Our Town," Friday, the 23d, and prizes will be presented on Christmas.

Many Attend Second of Mulieres' Dances

Christmas Dance, December 26, in Charge of Group of Hostesses

NEXT MEETING THE 12TH

The second dance in the series given by the Mulieres, Woman's Auxiliary of the Narberth Fire Company, last Friday evening in Elm Hall, was a very enjoyable affair. The room was decorated with red and white crepe paper strung across the ceiling. The crowd was larger than attending the previous dance, there being 24 young people present and 40 older members.

The next dance will be held on Monday, December 26, and is sponsored by the following, Miss Eloise Harnden, Miss Jane Nash, Miss Muriel White, Miss Emily Kerrigan, Miss Imogene Shaffer and Mr. Charles E. Harnden, Jr. This Christmas dance will be run entirely by these hostesses. The dances are open to the public and are held once in each month.

Elm Hall will have a Christmas tree on the stage, which will be trimmed by members of the Fire Company. There is also a "rumor" that some home-made Christmas cookies will make their appearance at this next dance. The dances are from nine until twelve.

The regular monthly meeting of the Mulieres will be held on Monday, December 12th, at 2.00 P. M., in Elm Hall. This will be an important business meeting and all members are asked to attend. The new members of the Executive Board will also be announced at this meeting.

The regular Wednesday sewing will continue from 10 until 1.00 each week. This day is given to mending clothing donated to Narberth's relief work.

Any toys put into the barrel in front of the Fire Hall will be used in Christmas baskets for the Narberth families. Groceries or donations of any sort whatever will be gratefully accepted and will help fill some basket for a family in the Borough.

All organizations are invited to join in this work as it is not under any special group.

As has been found to be the case in many communities, notably in Atlantic City, doors and windows, trees, shrubbery and lawns of the homes offer almost endless possibilities to the decorative genius of the family.

In commenting on the contest President Ralph S. Dunne, of the Business Council, declared, "There is no more effective antidote to bad cheer, whether commercial or domestic, than our old friend, Santa Claus. Not only will we be cheerier and happier in our personal lives, as a result of uniting in this community effort, but we will find an improved morale developing amongst us, a greater strength and courage for everyday affairs. It will provide in a distinct measure that 'lifting' of ourselves which all of us know is a necessary ingredient of the better times we feel are coming rapidly."

Barry Play to be Given by Showpeople Tonight

A Philip Barry play, "The Youngest," will be presented by Showpeople, dramatic organization of Lower Merion High School, in the school auditorium this Friday evening.

The cast includes Bruce French, Peggy McGuffin, Mirdza Specht, William Dougherty, Jim Andrews, Jim Watt, Polly Kever, Irene Goldowsky, Elfrida Mahler, Myrna Sheely, Margaret Waller, Marise Slangenaupt, Muriel White, Emily Titus.

New scenery has been designed for the production by the stage crew under the direction of Tim Talbot, assisted by David Thomas, Paul and Robert Goodyear and Bill Simmons.

Bill Wren's Orchestra will entertain and provide music for dancing following the performance.

The Ladies' Aid of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Narberth, will hold a homemade food sale in the store on Haverford avenue, next to Lang's Delicatessen, on Saturday, December 10. Cakes, pies, nutbread, salads and homemade baked beans will be on sale at moderate prices.

Anecdotes of Great Men Are Related

Narberth Clubwomen Hear Interesting Talk by Mrs. Lucy C. Pickels

PLAN XMAS PROGRAM

Mrs. Lucy C. Pickels, in her address before the Women's Community Club of Narberth Tuesday on the "Idiosyncrasies of Illustrious Men," gave interesting anecdotes of such geniuses as Thackeray, Sir Isaac Newton, Andrew Smith, a professor of political economy; Bishop Munster, Sir Walter Scott and Dean Swift.

"Perhaps one of the most common characteristics of these eccentric great folk," said Mrs. Pickels, "was that of absentmindedness. It is said that Dean Swift, in a violent attack of temper, before writing, used to chase his servants up and down stairs with a whip. Many of the great poets, such as Cowper, had melancholy fits and a persecution mania. Cardinal Richelieu, it is said, used to jump up and down in his garden or over the fountain in his home before writing. Schiller plunged his feet into ice water, while the late David Graham Phillips always stood while writing. It is also said that Galsworthy stands at a high desk when writing. Many of the great writers were affected by their surroundings and had to have special things around them at that time."

Miss Helen Strickler, soloist, in the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church, sang two songs, "Autumn" and "The Magic of Your Voice." Miss Strickler has a very pleasing voice, full of beauty and power.

The second speaker was E. S. MacCawley, of Ardmore, who spoke on the newest books now offered for Christmas trade.

Mrs. Walter J. Odiome, chairman of Literature, was in charge of the program, and Mrs. George W. Orth was the hostess.

Reports from the various departments were heard preceding the program. Mrs. W. J. Loughlin, chairman of the American Home Department, reported that the sewing for the Red

Merger Advocates Outline Their Case

Township School District Would Have to Absorb $30,000 Loss, Says Burns

LOU YOUNG PRESIDED

The case of the consolidation of the Borough of Narberth with Lower Merion Township was presented at a meeting held Wednesday night in the Narberth Public School.

Called by the Merger Committee, the meeting was attended by about fifty people and presided over by Louis A. Young.

Arthur W. Burns, chairman of the committee, in the principal talk of the evening, outlined the arguments for the merger, emphasizing the saving in taxes to Narberth residents.

According to Mr. Burns the Lower Merion School District would have to absorb a loss under the merger of approximately $30,000 more than they would collect from the Narberth area. He pointed out that ½ mill on $1,000 of assessed valuation would make up this difference. He stated that the Library and Playground would both be better off were Narberth part of the Township.

Mr. Young said that under the merger Narberth would have representation on the Township Board of Commissioners, either as a new district or as part of the existing districts.

Ralph L. Rankin, a member of the Committee, who, with Herbert L. Woehling, gathered the facts used by the group, answered questions regarding tax rates.

It was emphasized by various speakers that under a merger Narberth would not lose its identity. It was stated that approximately 1,000 signatures had been obtained for the petition advocating the dissolution of the Borough. A request for more workers was made in circulating petitions.

County Head Addresses Merion Women Voters

The Merion Branch of the League of Women Voters held a meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Bruce Byall, on Bryn Mawr avenue, Penn Valley.

Mrs. George S. B. Appel, president of the Montgomery County League, was the speaker. She outlined the proposed project for a County Survey. A short discussion followed. Mrs. William M. Gehmann, Jr., spoke on a number of current topics.

German Actor in Recital

Max Montor, noted German actor and dramatic impersonator, will give a performance of selections in German and English at the Haverford Union, Haverford College, on Monday evening at 8.15 o'clock. The recital is under the auspices of the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation.

To Talk on Depression

Miss Ethel Willings, of New York, who is stopping at the Windsor Essex, will give a talk on "Depression," at 8 o'clock this Friday evening at the Windsor-Essex.

Opposition to Merger Strong, Says Edgar

Many Signers Claimed by Committee for Counter-Petitions

OPPONENTS ARE LISTED

The Narberth Borough Citizens' Committee, formed recently to combat the merger of Narberth with Lower Merion, has been meeting with remarkable success in securing signatures for its counter-petitions, according to Robert J. Edgar, chairman of the committee.

Opposition to the merger is particularly strong with the older residents of the Borough, Mr. Edgar stated, who are familiar with the traditions of the town. Property owners, also, he said, who constitute the more permanent element in the Borough, have evidenced their approval of the counter-petition.

The work of compiling figures is still in process, Mr. Edgar stated. The committee, he said, expects to issue a statement shortly, showing that there will be no such saving as has been claimed by proponents of the merger. Casual work in the meantime has indicated a hearty readiness on the part of citizens to sign the counter-petition opposing any proposal for consolidation, he said.

Some of the residents who are reported as having signed the counter petition are:

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. T. Noel Butler, John J. Cabrey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. A. Chain, Mrs. Oakie S. Cook, Mrs. Marion M. Loos Dothard, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Denman, Robert J. Edgar, Henry A. Frye, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Duerr, Edward C. Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse S. Harris, Harry Hollar, E. J. Hartzell, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. Hervey C. Keim, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. John Gilroy, Mrs. Elizabeth Shand Loos, Miss Fanny H. Loos, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Leitch, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Kremer, Fred E. Moyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Minnick, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Miller, Jr., Mrs. Jane McDonald, James MacMackin, Mr. and Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, Robert J. Nash, George E. Purring, Mr. and Mrs. A. Perry Redifer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Smith, Mrs. James C. Simpson, Fletcher W. Stites, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Titus, Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Tyson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. L. M. Court Team to Open Season Dec. 10

Strong Palmerton Team to be Maroon's Opponent in Opener

HAVE GOOD MATERIAL

Lower Merion's varsity basketball team will get under way for the season on Saturday evening, December 10, against Palmerton High School, one of the strongest teams in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Following this game, which will dedicate the new gymnasium, the team will meet the strongest teams in the suburbs and the city of Philadelphia in one of the most difficult schedules a Lower Merion team has ever had to face.

Coach Bill Anderson has good material on hand this season, but not as rugged and experienced as in some of his former years. Two real veterans will line up on the starting five in Raymond Stanley and Jack Hinchey, both guards, who played regularly all last season. These two boys are real basketball players, but lacking somewhat in height, a handicap in these days of modern basketball. At forward Anderson will have Hanger and Ramsey, with Harvey Shillingford and Fred Gane as reserve material. Hanger is a rangey player, rugged and able, but he lacks playing experience. Bill Ramsey is a fine shot, but is not as effective in fast going as he should be. Perhaps regular assignments will help him to find his weak points. Gane is a fast floor man and a good shot. Shillingford

A Local Emergency

The families of the unemployed living between Overbrook and Paoli as well as those in the city are dependent on the United Campaign fund except for the money which comes from the state. It is therefore even more important to raise the fund this year as it is a local emergency as well as one for the nation.

It is sometimes hard for residents of this beautiful suburban district to realize their neighbors are in actual need of such bare necessities as fuel, food and clothing, and that it is therefore imperative to raise the whole sum of $6,000,000.00 so that people through the coming year will not suffer for either these bare necessities, nursing care or recreational facilities provided by the Welfare agencies of this district.

You who have a job, a nice warm home and clothing—Are YOU willing to share with your less fortunate neighbors?

Shreds & Patches

Fire Worshippers

Any excuse is a good enough reason for a fire in the fireplace in the house where The Vagrant lives. If it storms outside, if the day is dark and gloomy, or merely because it is evening and the day's work is done, The Vagrant asks "Fire in fireplace?" and La Vagante's quick response always reveals a happy anticipation that is never satiated. Full equipment of kindlers and fuel are always conveniently at hand and soon the ruddy glow is bringing out hidden colors in the rug and touching up furniture, pictures and faces with new highlights. To the true fire-worshipper, however, a glowing fire is a jealous god, demanding undivided attention. One can not read and watch the fire at the same time; the radio can be listened to when it is not too strident or too banal, which is seldom, but conversation fits in best of all. Even past sorrows and disappointments can be transmuted by the alchemy of that gleam into significant parts in the pattern of life. The clock chimes the quarter-hours with what seems to be an accelerated pace, the flame dies down, the embers glow until finally the summons of bed becomes unanswerably compelling. As he reluctantly ascends the stairs, The Vagrant always pauses for one final look into the bright red eye of the grate gleaming alone from the darkened living-room. "Nice place," he says. La Vagante answers "Nice place," and in anticipation of equally good tomorrows, they close their eyes on a day well done.

The Question

After many conversations with the Wandering Jew, finally the opportunity came when The Vagrant could ask the question which he had been longing to utter, and so he said as gently and sympathetically as possible, "Are you not weary of life and filled with a great longing to be quit of the curse with which you have been afflicted so many centuries?" The Jew's answer was amazing. "I know of no curse," he said, "but, of course, I have heard of the Christian folk-lore which has grown up about me. I have not yet died; that is all there is to it, and as the expectancy of death long since left my mind I find myself able to endure life with greater certainty of purpose and more detachment than other men can apply to it. The details of daily living annoy me as much as they do any other man, but not more so. The vast panorama of human life constantly unfolding before my view is always engrossing."

The Answer

"If there was no curse, how do you account for the fact that you, and you only, have lived so long?" The Va-

Revenue Might be Derived From Playground, Wohler Says

To the Editor of "Our Town":

A lot of taxpayers were present at the last meeting of Council hoping to be able to show Council the necessity for a tax reduction. I had suggested a 50 per cent. reduction, so Council could have something at which to aim.

Very promptly after 8 o'clock the meeting was called to order by the president, Daniel Leitch, who extended to the visitors a left-handed greeting, mentioning the great number of people who appeared, and enlarging upon the unusual features of this sudden interest in the proceedings of Council. The air was surcharged with electricity. It was very evident that Council was not pleased to have the taxpayers ask for a tax reduction, the President of Council in particular.

Mr. Hall made some bitter comments after I had stated that after twelve years of misuse the taxpayers were not in position to pay as large tax bills as they had paid without complaint during good times, when nearly everybody had a job. There was no intention to point out to Council how a tax reduction could be effected. My belief was that it was entirely up to Council, and I had so told Mr. Robert Wood long before the meeting. All we had a right to do was to petition Council and show the necessity for a reduction, and turn the job over to Council to do. Mr. Hall got on his feet with a prepared speech and pointed out how I had signed a merger circular letter in which Council was given credit for efficient management. It seems to me in view of the fact that my signature appeared on this favorable report on the conduct of borough affairs by Council, it was rather gratuitous for the eminent politician from Pittsburgh, who served many years in some Council or another over there, to stand up and get excited over what was said about misrule.

I pointed out a few devices by which Council could save a little money. In fact, I was compelled to do this by the attitude of Daniel Leitch, President of Council. I had hoped it would be unnecessary. I mentioned while on the floor it was entirely possible to make the Playground self-supporting. This was waived aside by Mr. Leitch as something entirely foolish and ridiculous.

The Playground was provided for the children of Narberth and vicinity. The grown-up activities on the Playground were quite a second thought, and not given serious consideration by the original promoters of this Playground project. I am glad to notice that a larger number of people from Merion, Penn Valley and vicinity have found it possible to enjoy the ball games, and that the tennis courts are well used and that the children make increasingly heavy use of the Playground, but I also learn that the activities of the children are somewhat restricted by the use of the ball field by the older people. I believe this use has been worked out under the instructions of the Committee in charge to the entire satisfaction of everybody. A great many people from the surrounding territory have made free use of the Playground, which is quite as it should be. The Playground was not selfishly provided for the residents of Narberth only. It was made ready for the use of the children of the community at large. In this connection it may be well to mention that all Playground facilities of the larger centers, and I believe in the smaller ones, are open to all comers without restrictions.

In the Evening Bulletin of Wednesday, November 23rd, on the first and last pages, is a partial comment of the Park Commissioners' last report as filed, and that report was filed quite a few years ago, I believe. In that report is shown that the receipts of 1930 of Cobbs Creek and Juniata Golf Courses were $62,871.00. "At each course," the auditors said, "storage charges for 1930 were $200.00 and each instructor received $2.00 per hour for each lesson."

"Regarding the Tennis Courts in the Park," Major Martin said, "the Commission charges 50 cents for the Court per game, but permits four players to take part." "In New York," this same news item states, "the City received 50 cents per hour for the use of such Courts."

Narberth's Playground could very well be managed so the cost of operation could be covered by small fees charged. Certainly by doing that, those grown-ups who make use of the Playground would pay for the use, and pay sufficiently, so that the children's activities could be free to all.

The Playground is a distinct business asset to Narberth. The business district of Narberth pays a tremendously high tax, so the burden might be lightened slightly if the Playground activities were not entirely free.

I have no desire to go into particulars, as it seems to me they may very well be left to the Board of Recreation. If the ball teams were permitted to charge spectators a fixed sum, or make the spectators realize that they have to help pay for the show, I believe it could be managed, but, as before stated, I do not feel it comes within the province of the taxpayers to look after these details after they have duly elected representatives of Council to take care of it for them. All I have aimed to do is to show the necessity for a tax reduction.

In Narberth 69 stores are located. According to a count made by Charles M. Thompson, fourteen (14) of these stores are vacant, and I know of one store that is not paying any rent because the landlord feels and knows the tenant is unable to pay, and that he may as well keep the tenant there rather than have a vacancy, thereby enabling the tenant at least to make a living and provide for his family.

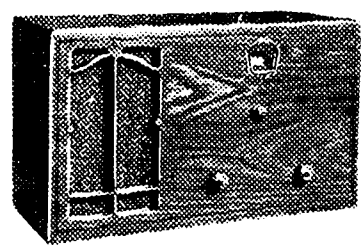

It should certainly not be necessary to again call the attention of Council to the unemployment situation, nor mention that the income of the taxpayers of Narberth has been cut from 50 per cent. upwards, not to mention other losses they have suffered. It is to be regretted that Council found it necessary to carry a "chip on its shoulder" when the citizens came with a friendly request, and as I said at the time, a respectful hearing was desired. It seems to me more as if Council, at least those who spoke, were decidedly in opposition to any tax reduction other than a mill or two, but, on the other hand, it is reasonably certain that after Council, even those who seemed to be a bit arrogant, have had time to think it over and look at the matter in its true light, they will be ready and willing to pare the budget as thoroughly as possible. As a member of Council has said, "It is comparatively no trouble to be a Councilman when everything runs smoothly, but it is much more to our credit if we can manage the affairs of the Borough through the present distressing condition and temper the winds to the shorn lamb."

I am quite sure that our taxpayers can look for a 25 per cent. reduction in their taxes, and they need give no undue anxiety, but look with full confidence to a relief. Of course, this relief cannot come this year, but it will be noted in next year's tax bill.

There is hardly any doubt in Lower Merion that taxes will also be materially reduced next year, but if Council wants to take the wind out of the sails of the mergerites, it seems to me the way to do it is to make the taxes lower than those of Lower Merion, although I fear this would be practically impossible, as the assessed valuation of Narberth property is over so much higher than that of similar property in Lower Merion Township. The tax rate may be approximately the same, but what is the use, if the assessed valuation is so much higher within the Borough limits?

There are a lot of interesting essays in Our Town of November 25th on the merger and allied subjects, taxes and tax rate included, but I feel that there are many people in Narberth much more able than I am to answer these various questions. Therefore, I have confined my efforts to tax reduction only.

Football, War, Mystery Stories at The Egyptian

An entirely different type of football story—a star halfback on his way to a touchdown murdered before "70,000 Witnesses" and no one knows the guilty man, is the presentation at the Egyptian this Friday and Saturday. Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan and a large cast, including many of the country's greatest football players, make "70,000 Witnesses" unusual entertainment. If you are tired of paltry crimes and unimaginative criminals you will want to see this production.

When a soldier of fortune aviator—an American without a country, fighting in the Chinese Arm—locks horns with a famous war correspondent in a bitter fight over a beautiful girl—what happens?

Answer: A gripping and interesting motion picture. "War Correspondent" is the title of the film, Jack Holt plays the part of the ace, Ralph Graves is the adventurous journalist, and Lila Lee is the beautiful girl for whose charms the two men have a bitter rivalry. Here is a really thrilling film drama, superbly acted and handsomely produced. It will be presented at the Egyptian next Monday and Tuesday. Holt and Graves are at their adventurous best in this, and Lila Lee was never more charming.

A large cast, headed by Olive Brook, Charlie Ruggles, Gene Raymond, Frances Dee, Mary Boland and Adrienne Ames, is featured in "The Night of June 13th," a screen drama which will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday at the Egyptian. The action of the picture is set in a block of four adjoining houses in a suburb of a large city, where four families live their own lives in their own manner until they suddenly discover that they are closely bound to each other.

Water and plenty of it!..
All the water you want—no matter where you live. In your house, away up on the hilltop or down in the sheltered valleys. Suburban Water never fails you. The secret of this never-failing supply of pure, sweet, clear, sparkling water lies in our constantly controlled water pressure in water mains and pipes. This unflinching pressure we maintain for your comfort and safety, day and night... that is why those who live at sea level get exactly the same service as those who live many hundreds of feet above the sea level. That is why water and plenty of it is always at your service. Ready in an instant for your emergency. Everything that men, money and scientific research and engineering skill and equipment can do for you is at your service—

"Religion" is Ninth of Library Reading Lists

"Religion" is the ninth in the series of reading lists prepared by the Library for the benefit of those patrons who may desire to systematize their reading.
The list approaches the subject from many angles and it is felt that books are included which will appeal to readers of widely divergent tastes.
The list follows:
1—William James—"Varieties of Religious Experience." Old, but still a remarkable study in pathology.
2—Harry E. Fosdick—"The Modern Use of the Bible." A sensible Bible for the perplexed modern student.
3—Harry E. Fosdick—"As I See Religion." The finest presentation of the liberal view of religion.
4—Frank G. Lewis—"How the Bible Grew." An expert's answer to the question "How did we get our Bible?"
5—Walter M. Horton—"Theism and the Modern Mood." An unapologetic defense of Theism against Humanism.
6—Walter Bundy—"Our Recovery of Jesus." The process of restoring Jesus to our modern world.
7—Walter Bundy—"The Religion of Jesus." What Jesus Himself had, rather than what others have had because of Him.
8—Caroline M. Hill—"The World's Great Religious Poetry." A world Anthology for those who like poetry.
9—Robert E. Hume—"The World's Living Religions." A remarkable, concise summary of the eleven religions in the world today.
10—George A. Coe—"What Is Christian Education?" One man's reply to this, perhaps the newest of our religious questions?
11—Lewis Browne—"This Believing World." A well told story of the forms taken by man's faith in God.
12—William K. Wright—"A Student's Philosophy of Religion." A professor of philosophy examines very carefully and presents very interestingly the nature, history, psychology and philosophy of religion.
13—J. H. Penniman — "A Book About the English Bible." The Provost of the University of Pennsylvania writes of the literary development of our English Bible.
14—Rufus M. Jones—"Some Exponents of Mystical Religion." Mysticism in the life and writings of Luther, Robert Browning, Walt Whitman and others, described by our neighbor, the world's outstanding authority on mysticism.
15—Shailer Mathews—"The Atonement and the Social Process." The Christian Idea of Atonement changes according to the social concepts of the age.
16—Streeter and others—"Immortality." A symposium on a subject of universal interest, conducted by a group of English liberals.

D'Ascenzo Art on Display in Cynwyd
Work of Eminent Philadelphia Artist to be Exhibited Until 21st

AT THE SHULL GALLERIES
Another in the series of exhibits of distinguished art works is now being held at the Shull Galleries, 25 Bala avenue, Bala-Cynwyd. The works of Nicola D'Ascenzo are on display, and will be shown to the public without charge until December 21.
The exhibit includes water colors, oil paintings, etchings, mosaics and stained glass work by the eminent Philadelphia artist. The showing follows the recent exhibition of the work of N. C. Weyth and William Tefft Schwarz, which attracted many people to the galleries.
Nicola D'Ascenzo, born in Torricella, Italy, in 1871, has been an American since childhood. His studio in Philadelphia is the mecca of art students and club groups from many parts of the country. Some of his most interesting work is displayed in the present exhibition.
Mr. D'Ascenzo's work is of peculiar interest to Main Line residents, because some of his best known work has been done in this section. The first medallion window of the 13th century period in this country is located in St. John's Church, Cynwyd. The most widely known of his windows are the historical windows in the chapel at Valley Forge, which have been compared by architects to those of Chartres and Sainte-Chappelle.
Other distinctive examples of Mr. D'Ascenzo's are found in the Lady Chapel; the great west window in the Princeton University Chapel; St. James' Church, Bristol, and the Philadelphia-Fidelity Trust Building.
Many of the paintings and etchings in the Shull exhibit are the results of travels in far countries taken by Mr. D'Ascenzo and his wife, who, as Myrtle Goodwin, had been an instructor in design. The rooms are open daily from 8.30 to 5, Wednesday evenings 8 to 10, and Sundays, 2 to 5 P. M.

Seen with the aid of the X-ray, the baby's tiny foot does not reveal 26 connected bones, but 26 bony masses which do not appear even to touch each other. As the child grows and the various articular surfaces are formed, these masses enlarge and assume proper shape, soon meeting each other. In the tiny child there is no amount of muscular development, so nature holds the various arches in position by means of fatty pads. That is why the feet of the infant usually appear to be perfectly flat and continue so for a year. As the child begins to crawl and to stand, the leg muscles develop, the fatty pads are absorbed, and the foot begins to appear arched. At about the age of six to eight the tiny masses begin to unite, forming the general structure of the foot, but some of the bones are not completely formed until the age of 18 or 20.
It is readily apparent, therefore, that the critical period of child foot care is during the early years when the tiny bones are forming and the little muscles are strengthening. This is the period of the child's life when the little feet must be carefully watched and cared for, because it is during these early years that the feet can be shaped at will, either bent and deformed, or made strong and sturdy.

BUSINESS BITS

Business Bits greets Business Briefs, a new little news sheet, published by the Narberth Business Council, in the interests of the Borough's business folk. The editor is the Council's president, Ralph S. Dunne. Like this column, it is published "ever once in a while."

As announced in Business Bits a month ago, Daniel Cooperman, of Chestnut Hill, has leased C. P. Cook's store on Haverford avenue, near Narberth avenue, and is about to open it as a pharmacy.

In addition to the group decorations for Christmas, announced elsewhere in this issue, many Borough business houses are planning individual displays. Gifts already brighten some store windows, such as Ricklin's Hardware Store. A large and interesting line of moderately priced gifts is ready at Davis' Store.

A change in his system of merchandizing is announced by J. Paul Shea this week. It includes the elimination of charge accounts and the inauguration of lower prices. The substantial saving in expense entailed in handling a credit business will be passed on to his cash customers, Mr. Shea promises, as part of the worldwide trend to economy. Quality of service and goods will continue high, the pharmacist says, and the free delivery service will be continued. Shea's Pharmacy, which in recent years has held forth at Haverford avenue near the Narberth Station, has enjoyed a steady growth in its business, rewarding the proprietor and his clerks for their friendliness and courtesy.

Narberth National Pays $25,000 Christmas Fund

Checks for $25,000 were mailed yesterday to members of the Narberth National Bank's 1932 Christmas Club. About 400 families, over a fourth of Narberth's households, receive the benefits, which are in large part turned over to business people during the Christmas shopping season.

A new club is now being formed to make Christmas, 1933, happy for weekly depositors. Classes of membership for the fifty-week period range from 25c a week, payable $12.50 plus interest next December, to $10 weekly, payable $500 plus interest.

Neatly printed little booklets are available at the bank, in the form of shopping lists, in which to note Christmas purchases and gifts. They are free for the asking.

Russian Samovars Are Exhibited by Challenger

Russian samovars from the days of the regime of the Czars, companion pieces to those found in the Kremlin, are on display for two weeks at the Challenger & Co. showroom of furniture and art, Montgomery pike, near Meeting House lane, Narberth. They bear the stamps of numerous awards for the designing and craftsmanship of the makers. Chief of these is the Seal of the Czar, awarded 1881 by Alexander the Third.

One of the samovars, made in Petrograd, won for its maker the Medal of the Metropolis, in 1878. Serviceable and in excellent condition, these relics from the days of Imperial Russia are unique; it would be interesting to know the history of each of them, following the fall of the Empire.

dinner on Tuesday evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Walker, of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Palmer, of Baltimore, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Blanchard, of Ridley Park.

Mr. Fred L. Drew, of Newport, N. J., was the guest of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Drew, of Moreno road, Penn Valley, on Thanksgiving Day.

Miss Dorothy Cleverger, a student at Wilson College, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Cleverger, of Woodside avenue.

The Misses Eleanor, Betty and Marion Snyder, of 120 Woodside avenue, had as their guest over the weekend Miss Edith Wilkins, of Moorestown, N. J.

The Misses Snyder gave a bridge party in honor of Miss Wilkins last Friday evening. The guests were Miss Ruth Hager, of Narberth; Miss Mary Rizzo, of Ardmore; Miss Marion Steinbach, of Cynwyd, and Miss Eleanor Mamora, of Manoa.

Miss Betty Snyder has returned to George School, where she is a member of the Junior Class.

grant asked, and added, "surely, you are obliged to admit by now that some supernatural power has prolonged your days for reasons of its own." "I know it is said that I was cursed because I would not permit Jesus to rest by my doorway when he was bearing his cross to Calvary," said the Jew, "but I have no memory of such an incident. Many condemned men bearing crosses passed my doorway when I was living in Jerusalem. Disorderly crowds often accompanied them, jeering and creating many annoyances for the peaceful and orderly people who lived along that street. We heard their approach with dread and watched their departure with satisfaction. Any delay prolonged our difficulties. We did what we could to hasten them along their way. There may have been one named Jesus whom I might have urged away from my door, but, if so, I never knew him nor heard of him until many years later when people, amazed at my longevity and seeing in it a thing surpassing nature, invented tales of a curse wherewith to explain it. Wherein would it satisfy any eternal ends of justice to curse a man through the ages for doing at one particular time the same deed which previously had had no especial significance when done by himself and his neighbors repeatedly? No, my friend, Jehovah does not do so. I know for I have worshipped Him and meditated on His ways longer than any other man ever did. He is good, and greatly to be praised. There is no curse. I have not died. That is all there is to it."

Haverford Opens Court Season With Penn Dec. 10

Haverford College opens its 1932-33 basketball season with the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday, December 10.

The Main Liners lost few men through graduation and five lettermen returned this fall. Two promising Freshmen court stars entered Haverford this year from inter-academic circles, Tiernan and Hopper. Coach Taylor feels confident that the Scarlet and Black will have a successful season. He stated that the large number of Junior Varsity men will bolster the team considerably.

Minister at Rotary

The Rev. Samuel McAdams, pastor of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church, was the guest speaker Tuesday at the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. He was introduced by Dr. Ezra S. Deubler.

Mr. McAdams gave selfishness as the root of the depression, and pointed out that the United States, blaming their troubles on European imperialism, had not been free of this same sin. He pointed to the Mexican war, with the grabbing of several states as an example.

The annual Ladies' Night of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club will be held on Monday evening at the Overbrook Golf Club. There will be entertainment, music and prizes. Fifty reservations have already been made.

Narberth School Notes

This year the Eighth Grade boys have metal work in shop. First we started out practicing riveting, soldering, and hemming. Then our first project was the making of cookie cutters. We cut out the tin and hem it on the bar folder. We shape it on different kinds of anvils into either a heart, spade, club, diamond, square or hexagon. After this we make the handle and solder it on. Other projects were: match holders, sugar scoops and funnels.

at this point the visitors braced and took the ball on downs.

In Saturday's game the first score came after Finian recovered a fumble on the visitors' 15-yard line. On the first play Aigledinger shot a pass for a touchdown to Young, who was standing in the end zone.

Young, Narberth's right end, provided the setting for the second score by the Borough team by recovering a fumble on the visitors' 15-yard line.

A. Nelson then skirted right end for 13 yards, planting the ball on the two-yard stripe. Aigledinger then carried it over for the second touchdown and A. Nelson drop-kicked the extra point. The visitors, aided by a penalty, scored from the two-yard line by an end run.

goes good in spots, but needs more experience.

At center the Maroon will have Franklin Talley and Sturgis Poorman, both range boys and fair shots. Talley will become ineligible on account of age in the middle of January, so Anderson will have to depend on Poorman and Bob Mathis to take care of the tap-off position unless other material develops before that time.

The usual pessimistic attitude is assumed by the Lower Merion coach, Anderson, and we can appreciate his condition of worry, but in spite of his doubt as to the ability of his boys, he really has a smart combination of court players, and followers of the team will see a much better combination representing the school than the one last year. Roy Williams will be missed, but there are other boys to take his place, and the other teams in the Suburban League will have a rude awakening when they meet this fast moving quintette from the land of the Maroon and White.

Anecdotes of Great Men Are Related

Cross undertaken by this department would be finished this week. They have completed 100 garments. Mrs. H. A. Jacobs, chairman of Conservation, asked that all club women avoid using Christmas wreaths made of the prohibitive greens, such as laurel, holly and ground pine. Mrs. Leon Webster Melcher reported on two letters which are to be sent to the Senators of the State approving of United States' adherence to the World Court.

The Executive Board will hold a meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Joseph A. Hongler, on Tuesday morning at 10 A. M.

The next meeting of the club will be a Christmas party, on Tuesday, December 13, at 2.30 P. M. This is an open meeting and every member of the community is invited to attend. There will be carols, a tree and a play. The program will be in charge of the Fellowship and Drama Committees, Mrs. J. H. Miller and Mrs. John C. Nash. The hostesses will be Mrs. Verna Woodcock and Mrs. L. Parker Miller.

L. M. Team Winds Up Season Undeclared

the manner in which the stalwart forwards of the local school charged through a heavy set of guards and tackles from Delaware County. It was the same story in every game this season with the exception of the Abington contest. The big boys from Abington outplayed the forwards of Adam a shade that afternoon, but it may readily be seen that the season was too young to have the line in condition for such an important game with only three weeks' practice.

Thirty-one to 0 was a score that showed the real strength of the Merion eleven in comparison with other teams in the suburbs. Those who raved about the Radnor possibilities on a dry field ceased their alibis after this astonishing victory.

Hail to a great team, the Maroon of 1932.

To the People of Narberth:--

Buy for Cash and Save ---A change of policy and an announcement...

Today, economy is the watchword of the entire world, and so it is with me.

To help you to economize, I have decided to economize. This means discontinuing all charge accounts. Cut-price competition, reduction in the salaries of many of you, and the decline of business in general, leads me to aid you by cutting prices. This I cannot do without changing accounts from a charge to a cash basis.

Charge accounts entail quite an expense. Stationery, postage, salary, time—all require money. By discontinuing this I can give your dollar more value.

And so I offer you a reduction in prices, substantial enough to aid the most economical budget. At the same time, we shall, of course, continue our free and prompt delivery service, our accuracy and reliability in compounding prescriptions, and the high quality of every item sold here.

I'm sure you'll find this change in policy profitable to you, and I'm counting on having the pleasure of serving you even more in the future than I have in the past.

Sincerely,

J. PAUL SHEA
